Request for Recommendations of Candidates for the Position of Graduate School Professor, Department of Hygiene and Public Health, Graduate School of Medicine, Nippon Medical School

To whom it may concern,

The Graduate School of Medicine, Nippon Medical School seeks candidates for the position of Professor at the Department of Hygiene and Public Health, currently occupied by Professor Tomoyuki Kawada, who is retiring in March, 2025. We would appreciate nominations from any suitable candidates in the relevant field, including your institution, department, or facility, both in Japan and abroad. If there is a suitable person in the related field, please recommend him/her as outlined below.

The university promotes basic medical education from not only a clinical medicine perspective, but also from a broad social perspective, and seeks candidates who can provide practical education in hygiene and public health.

Please note that Nippon Medical School has a fixed-term system (five-year renewable contract).

Yours sincerely,

Akihiko Gemma
President
Nippon Medical School
